What if we traveled in our memories, in that background of our childhood which is impossible to forget?

The space between the buildings was assigned to the close inhabitants by being something given, something found there which no one claimed and which belongs to everybody.

The key hanging by the neck is the image of liberty. appropriating a free space through playing remains for the children of the last decades in history of Romania a strong element of some MNEMONICS keeping childhood memories vivid - friends, games, accidents, facts, stories.
